SUSPECTED SLAYER OF BRYANT NOW HELD IN CLEVELAND

Earl Carroll, Broadway Producer, Gets Sentence

THEATRE MANAGER MUST SERVE TIME UPON TWO CHARGES

Perjury Charges Carry Two Year Penalty In Atlanta

GIRL'S STORY IS DAMAGING

Notable Figures Are Called By Court For Testimony

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 3—Earl Carroll, Broadway producer convicted of perjury in connection with grand jury investigations of a party in his theater at which an unclad chorus girl served drinks from a bathtub in which she was seated, was sentenced today to serve a year and a day on each of two counts in Atlanta Federal prison and to pay a fine of $1,000 on each count.

Carroll was originally indicted on six counts. Two referred to his testimony that there had been no liquor served at the party, two to his statements that no one occupied the bathtub, and two to his assertion that he had no list of guests at the party.

The grand jury indicted him on two counts on recommendation of prosecution. The producer was not found guilty of the liquor indictment but guilty of the two indictments concerning the nude woman in the bathtub.

The court ordered the jail sentence on the two counts to run concurrently so that Carroll will have to serve a year and a day and pay a fine of $2,000. Sentence was imposed by Judge Goddard before whom Carroll was tried and convicted.

During the trial Joyce Hawley, 17 year old chorus girl testified that she had occupied a bathtub on the stage of the Earl Carroll theater at Carroll's invitation and that she had been drunk at the time from drinking liquor served her in the theater. The jury by its verdict asserted its belief in her first statement but not in her second.

The party described variously as a Washington birthday celebration, a party in honor of a man who had asked Carroll in his theatrical enterprises and a welcoming ovation to Countess Cathcart who had just been released from Ellis Island where she had been held on a charge of moral impropriety, was attended by numerous widely known figures of the theater field. Among those called as witnesses in the perjury trial were Irving Cobb, writer; Augustus Thomas, playwright and Al Jolson blackface comedian.

States Attorney Buckner after Carroll had been sentenced consented to a motion by counsel to admit Carroll to bail.

Divorce Total In County High

Twenty Petitions Filed During Past Three Months Cause Question, "What's Wrong With Marriage?"

As June, the month of romance, of timid grooms and blushing brides, waits across the horizon of time, one wonders what is wrong with marriages.

In Morgan County during the month of May there were 23 marriage licenses issued to white couples and nine divorce actions handled in the equity division of the circuit court.

This record is calculated to spread alarm, but the divorce record for previous month is even more alarming. In April only one action was filed, but in March there were ten, a total of 20 divorces in Morgan County alone in the past three months. Some of the divorces were for negroes, but a heavy percentage of divorce actions are being filed by white persons.

The failure, in so many instances, of matrimony is arousing widespread discussion and has stirred the pulpit, the press and educational leaders all over the South. Time was when divorces played a small part in the lives of Southern people, but the later-day records speak for themselves.

In Montgomery, speaking before the graduation class of Women's College, Dr. Eugene A. Noble, president of the Julliard Musical Foundation, urged his hearers to base their lives on "think, love, act from honest motives and trust in God." Dr. Noble paid tribute to the womanhood of the South, but afraid the modern girl is Henry Mayfield in a statement to the principal causes of separation to be greasing will in his session.

In Birmingham, Judge Virginia Henry Mayfield, in a statement to the Associated Press, blamed lack of parental authority as the principal cause for delinquency among both boys and girls. She has decided views regarding separations, especially among younger married couples, finding the principal causes of separation to be selfishness, neglect, poverty and whiskey.

VICTIM OF CRASH IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Service Held Near Falkville For Edgar Ryan

Edgar Ryan, resident of the Falkville community, who died in a Birmingham hospital as a result of injuries received when his automobile was struck by a railroad train at the West Falkville crossing, was laid to rest yesterday.

Funeral services for the unfortunate man were held at Gandy's Cove, and interment made in the eastern end of the county, near Rocky Ford.

Mr. Ryan was injured more than a week ago. It was said he approached the crossing and was believed to have been watching a freight train, not aware of the approach of the Birmingham-Decatur accommodation, which was said to have hit his car, throwing it some distance. The injured man was taken to Birmingham for medical treatment.

Two Seek Death; One Man Finds It

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 3.—Two attempts at suicide, one of which was successful, were reported from Vernon and Bratlett Gap, Ala. One occurred from delirium and no cause could be given for the other.

Believing his home surrounded by a mob, Floyd Gilliland, 42 year old bachelor, of Bratlett Gap, left the house several times with a shotgun and was induced to return only thru the efforts of the family.

Mrs. Tom Bowen, a sister, with whom he made his home and her family, retired for the night only to be awakened a short time later by the report of the gun. Gilliland had shot himself through the side.

Though physicians stated none of the shots had entered a vital spot, he died almost immediately from the shock.

W. M. Strother, 25, of Vernon, Ala., 11 miles west of Sulligent, shot himself through the neck Wednesday.

M'CALLA FIXES THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR ECHOLS HILL ON CITY

Answer To Query Tells of Work Underway at This Time

BEE LINE ROAD TO BE COMPLETE

Highway Body Does Not Believe City Will Allow Break

Expressing the belief that the City of Albany will rebuild Echols hill when it is ascertained that the responsibility for the building of the road is realized as belonging to the city, W. A. McCalla, state highway engineer, today made public the plans the state highway department has in mind for the completion of the Bee Line highway, north and south of these cities.

Mr. McCalla's opinion was given freely after query had been made by the Albany-Decatur Daily regarding the responsibility for the rebuilding of this roadway in which citizens of this county are interested.

A partial report of the state highway department is given herewith:

The state highway department is maintaining the road from Hartselle to the southern city limits of Albany which is about 1,000 ft. south of the hill you refer to as Echols hill. The road from the city limits to the paved street which intersects the Summerville road just at the top of the hill near Webb Speake's house is within the corporate limits of the city of Albany and the state highway department has no responsibility connected therewith. I have no doubt that the Mayor and Council of the City of Albany will put this piece of road in proper shape if you bring the matter to their attention telling them that this road is within the limits of the city and ask them to have the

Untold Damage Done In Storm Swept Area In Oklahoma

(Associated Press)

PAWHUSKA, June 3.—Persons are dead today as the result of a storm that swept over Northern Oklahoma last night, according to reports reaching here. Five of the victims were drowned and the sixth shocked by lightning. Those drowned were all members of one family.

The Blackert family, five of whom were drowned were enroute to Homing, Okla., in their motor car when a four foot wall of water rushing down Rock Creek, washed away the approach to a bridge as they started across.

Hearing the roar of the oncoming water Blackert sped up the car to cross the stream before the rise struck the bridge. Seven persons were in the car, but two of them, children, were washed ashore.

About six inches of rain fell in the vicinity of Homing during the storm. Water rose to over four feet in the houses of fifty families along the creek bank. Rescue crews were at work today, however and further casualties were not expected. The creek was a half mile wide in places.

Considerable damage was done by the storm in Osage, Pawnee, and Tulsa counties. At Cleveland several buildings were blown away.

Railroad transportation was held up where tracks were washed out.

Many other sections of the state reported heavy rainfall and high winds when little damage was done.

Restaurant Operator Is Whipped, She Tells Deputy Sheriff

BESSEMER, Ala., June 3.—Dragged from her small restaurant at Brown's station, taken to a deserted spot and beaten with a leather strap, while five cars loaded with masked white men looked on, was the story recited today by Lucy Barton, negro, to Deputy Sheriff J. M. Smithson.

She stated that five men entered her restaurant on the South Bessemer car line about nine p.m., Wednesday and took her to a waiting automobile, with the statement that she was under arrest.

Followed by four other cars, loaded with masked white men, they paraded to Westlake, Gordon Heights, where she was taken from the machine and beaten.

She was weak from the severe lashing at the time she reported to the sheriff's office, it was stated. The negro woman has been convicted for violation of the prohibition law, Deputy Smithson said.

REQUISITION ASKED FOR SELIGEMAN BY MORGAN OFFICIALS

Effort Made To Send Witness To Identify Man Held There

BRYANT'S DEATH SHOCKED CITIES

Merchant Wounded As He Resisted Effort To Rob His Store

Requisition papers have been requested by Morgan County authorities for a man giving the name of M. R. Seligeman, and wanted here in connection with the shooting to death of T. A. Bryant, who was fatally wounded while resisting an attempt at robbery of his store on February 20th.

Seligeman now is held by the police of Cleveland, O., after Morgan County officers have trailed him over a wide territory.

Efforts today were being made to get one of the several witnesses to the shooting to go to Cleveland in an effort to identify the man. If one or more of these people go to Cleveland and are able to identify the man held there as the one wanted here, he will be returned and a speedy trial ordered. If they are unable to identify him he will be given his immediate release, according to preliminary plans today.

The slaying of Mr. Bryant was one of the most revolting crimes on record here. On Saturday afternoon, February 20, while the merchant was busy in his store on East Market street, a stranger walked into the establishment and demanded the contents of the cash drawer.

When Mr. Bryant resisted he was shot down and was beaten with a meat cleaver, or some other heavy instrument. Several persons are reported to have seen the man in the store and as he fled, flourishing a pistol menacingly.

The bandit jumped into a coupe standing near the scene, and made his escape. Bryant was rushed to Benevolent hospital but died within a few days.

Authorities have been working on a theory that the car was stolen from Atlanta, Ga., and that the man headed north or east after leaving here.

Johnson was said to have been driving the car and was not familiar with the road. As the machine approached a curve, the automobile got beyond control and plunged over the bluff.

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Cochran, the Governor's mother, never has quite approved of her daughter-in-law, Molly. After she has overheard a conversation between Molly and Arthur Bancroft, a politician, in which the revelation of an incident in the former's girlhood life is threatened, she agrees with the younger woman that it is best for her to disappear, in order to save the Governor. So Molly writes a note to her husband, telling him she is leaving to seek a literary career.

"There's just one way," she said then briefly. "We must make them believe that I am dead. Oh, I shan't be, of course," she added quickly, reading in the keen old eyes how glad she would have been to see her lying there dead at her feet if that could have saved her son. "Much depends on you," she went on. "You must listen very carefully and do exactly as I tell you."

Five minutes by the clock it required to outline the plan. The other nodded from time to time, dubiously at first; toward the end with growing conviction and hope. "I think you'd better give him this," Molly concluded, handing her the letter she had written. "You can say you found it in my room. You must never let him suspect the real reason why I am going, and you will have to do everything on your own initiative. He would not consent."

"But—no money!" Mrs. Cochran gasped. The thought had evidently just occurred to her. "Yes, the three hundred dollars Greg gave to me on my birthday. You will need more." She looked about vaguely for her own purse—remembered she hadn't it with her. "You must send me some address," she said then. "I will keep you supplied. Greg wouldn't want you to lack for anything."

"I shall manage," Molly was at the door. She seemed for a moment to hesitate. Finally, without looking back, "You'll do the best you can—for him—won't you? It's not going to be easy—for him..." Molly, walking in the direction of the station with the suitcase, was thinking: "She has her son again, and she is glad. But she will have to watch him suffer. He would show that he suffered, and that will be more terrible for her..."

CHAPTER XXVI

The ticket to New York which Molly purchased involved no conscious act of will. Hong-Kong or the Antipodes would have served as well. Her one thought was to lose herself; to sink identity, personality—if such a boon might be, memory.

When she stepped on to the ferry, lost in the dun-gray fog of early morning, the city on the opposite shore looked but a thing of vapors and uncount shadows, a mildewed blotch on the encompassing dun-gray waters. The damp, piercing cold cut through her light coat, straight to the bone. Shivering, she wondered dully what she had ever imagined in such a place. Where was the enchantment, where the splendor and the terror, where the brooding life? Fit symbol—her dreams always reckless, keyed too high; the reality dun-gray and unambiguous.

After hours of dogged tramping, miles of dingily carpeted stairs, she found a room within the possibilities of her purse. It was the smallest room she had ever seen. The old landlady at home was spacious in comparison. She dropped her suitcase, paid the landlady two weeks in advance, locked the door, and fell full length across the dingy couch. She had not taken a Pullman for the three days' journey—she would not have slept, any way.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 pounds in 7 weeks and is now strong and healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it. But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do can-

Now as she lay motionless on the hard and narrow couch and stared about her at the ugly, narrow room an exasperating line kept pounding through her brain—beating time to the city's muffled yet sinister roar: "That is his narrow cell forever laid—"

On the afternoon of the fourth day the landlady rapped on the three flights of stairs and rapped with businesslike intent at the door. Molly was sitting by the one window—dressed apparently just as when she arrived. Her hair, gloves, purse, lay in precisely the same spot on the washstand.

"Did you want something?" she asked, without turning round or taking her eyes from the prospect of dingy roof and dingier skylights. "Molly took and took up her hat from the washstand. 'I'm just going out to get something to eat,' she said, in a suggestive glance at the door, which her caller's bulk all but concealed.

"Folks as I reckon 'twould hurt you more, neither," Mrs. Mulvaney flattened herself obligingly sideways and noted with increasing respect for her own psychic powers that the hat went on without so much as a peek at the mirror. "Come for, come grief, 'tis eatin' an' drinkin' we must still be after doin'."

Molly turned the key in the lock and made good her escape. One she had swallowed a few spoonfuls of the soup which a grateful waitress set before her, her head cleared a little, her limbs grew more dependable. She inquired her way to the place where papers from home were to be had, bought a half dozen and carried them to the roomer's park bench.

GOVERNOR'S WIFE DROWNS IN PLEASURE BOAT

The headlines shrieked with heavy black type. She skimmed briefly through the double columns:

Mrs. Gregory Cochran, who with her husband's mother preceded the Governor some days since to their summer camp in Michigan...

Alone in a small canoe—sudden squall—capsized... Body not yet recovered, but every effort still being made... Governor Cochran had already started North to join his family when the tragic news reached the capital.

Saturday. The papers slipped unnoted to the ground. Again for the thousandth time she had to live that hour of his homecoming. Unsuspecting, loving, trusting her, hurrying home—to that letter, to that vicious, cowardly stab in the back. If she could have spared him that—the first moment of it, even—taken it somehow on herself... Her own anguish was nothing. She hardly knew whether she suffered. But Greg—to picture him growing only a little more quiet and self-contained—even his mother persuaded after a while that he no longer felt the sting. But he would feel it. She, Molly, knew.

Molly had fancied that she had some knowledge of poverty. During the weeks and months—fifteen years that followed, she came to understand that she knew not even the alphabet of that grim science. In Lower Chapel, one might suffer from poverty as from a plague or a leprosy—endure hardship, degradation. But one did not starve or take carbolic. Here people die both.

She could have made money—perhaps—if she had been willing to give her mind to it, and if she had not been too dazed and stunned by care. On the day when she moved her scanty belongings into a tiny apartment of her own a wing block for the first time in her life. Scarce hope, but some old stirring of action and desire; that absurd passion for a place all her own—a place where she could take out her thoughts and stow them comfortably about, know they would always be there to greet her when she came home.

Little by little, things began to creep fearfully back—but h-jiding themselves ready for instant and panic-stricken flight. Images, visions, a face in the dark, a voice at her elbow—faint will-o'-the-wisps of that awful beauty and ferocity of life—more awful now and more beautiful. Slight, evanescent nothing, yet hers; oh so wholly hers! They plucked and teased at her, hinting slyly—if she would but give them a chance... She might as well. There was nothing else left. She was the seasoned instrument now—or better, perhaps, a seasoned opiate. No world could be altogether hopeless where one could still think and work with power.

To have one's mind for oneself—the ultimate luxury—a luxury to be purchased with a price. She did purchase it with a price. She had seen cattle branded out on the plains. Those first years in New York were burnt like that into her brain and soul. Self-denial, grinding toil, disillusionment, heartache... Then she met Myron Eldredge. Myron Eldredge was the greatest dramatic critic in New York.

dy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11 1-2 pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Cad-dell Drug Co., and all druggists—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Advt.

INDIGESTION

North Carolina Lady Says She Had An Awful Time With Indigestion, Till She Took Black-Draught.

Pilot Mountain, N. C.—"For several years I suffered with a bad case of chronic indigestion," says Mrs. Sam C. Inman, of this place. "I had bad spells with my stomach. At times I had severe pains in my right side. My stomach would get upset and I would have an awful time. It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me. I was in pretty bad shape."

"My husband had been using Thedford's Black-Draught for some time for indigestion. He had spells of it too, so he suggested that I try Black-Draught. I took some from his box, just to see if it would help me, and I found it was the very thing for my trouble. It did me a great deal of good. My condition was brought on by a chronic case of constipation and, by getting relief from this, I found my general health was much better."

"We keep Black-Draught in the house all the time. Whenever I find I need it, I take several doses and thus avert a bad spell of indigestion. It is a splendid medicine and I am glad to say so."

NO-NOX

MOTOR FUEL

STOPS KNOCKS

Turns Mountains into Mole hills

FOR years the carbon knocks, clicks, pings or detonation in automobile engines have been a menace to motor efficiency and a sore spot to the motorist. GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel has turned the old time carbon bugaboo into an asset, in fact it has put carbon to work.

No-Nox and Carbon are Power Twins

Compression is power—Carbon adds compression—No-Nox withstands compression and the combination gives wonderful motor efficiency.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel not only withstands the high compression of the modern automobile engine—but also the added higher compression caused by carbon deposits on the walls and piston head which increases with the age of the car;—clicks and knocks are eliminated—greater efficiency is accomplished—followed by more power and greater mileage.

This Guarantee goes with it

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is Non-Noxious, Non-Poisonous and no more harmful to man or motor than ordinary gasoline—that it contains no dope of any kind—that the color is for identification only—and will not heat in summer driving.

GULF No-Nox Motor Fuel is priced three cents per gallon higher than ordinary gasoline—and is worth it.

BREADS AND BISCUITS AS 3 EXPERT COOKS MAKE THEM

(Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on cooking which 6 famous cooks are contributing to this paper.)

Bread can be much more than the uninteresting, prosaic "staff of life." It can be made so delicious that you eat it because you want to, not because you think you ought to.

Famous cooks have unearthed many delicious bread and biscuit recipes from various parts of the country for you. Follow their recipes for pleasing variety in breads.

Easy Bran Muffins
Mrs. Rorer, the Philadelphia cooking expert, recommends her bran muffins for breakfast. "They are very nutritious and healthful," she says. "One might paraphrase the old saying into a bran muffin a day keeps the doctor away." It would hold just as true.

"These muffins are easily made," she affirms. "Beat one egg, add 1 cup of milk, a half teaspoon salt, one tablespoonful sugar, and dry tablespoonful melted butter. Stir one cupful flour with three level teaspoons baking powder, and bake in a hot oven, in greased gem pans for 20 minutes."

Nuts for Nourishment

Mrs. Rorer has a very appetizing and nourishing bread, too. Here's how to make it:

Chop enough pecans to make a half cupful. Put two cupfuls flour in a bowl, add four level teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon salt, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and sift. Mix in the nuts. Beat one egg, add one cupful of milk, mix and add the flour. Beat well, and turn at once into a greased bread pan.

Let stand 10 minutes. Light oven 3 minutes before bread is light. Bake half an hour at medium heat. Raisins may be substituted for nuts. Nut bread makes very good sandwiches if spread with butter. Cream cheese may also be used for a simple, delicious filling.

Southern Corn Bread

Corn bread, that favorite of the South, is another nutritious change from the every-day white bread. Made with the recipe of Miss Rosa Michaelis, famous New Orleans cook, it's a welcome part of any meal.

Here are the ingredients:
1/2 cup of sugar
1 cup cornmeal
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 tablespoonfuls baking powder
1/2 tablespoonful shortening
2 cups water (or milk, or the two mixed)

Sift corn meal, salt, sugar, and baking powder together. Add water or milk. Add yolks of eggs and shortening which has been heated. Add stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Put into a hot greased pan and bake in hot oven. This can be served with butter or with syrup.

Real Beaten Biscuits

If you have a patient right arm, you are bound to make successful beaten biscuits. This is another southern recipe of Miss Michaelis.

Patterson To Be Here This Week

Andrew G. Patterson, candidate for governor, expects to arrive here the latter part of the week for a few hours stay before going on to Lauderdale County. Mr. Patterson is scheduled for an address at Florence on "Trades Day," delivering his talk from the Lauderdale County courthouse. Advices from his headquarters are extremely optimistic, campaign interest growing over the state with an increased Patterson following.

What 30 Years of Cooking taught Mrs. Rorer about Stoves

By MRS. SARAH TYSON RORER
Philadelphia Cooking Expert

"I PREFER oil stoves to any other kind. I speak from the fullness of 30 years' experience with them. Oil is clean, economical, and dependable. It saves a world of work. No coal or wood to carry in, no ashes to carry out. And no dust."

"I have just completed a special experiment on the 1926 model Perfection Oil Stove, testing it under all possible cooking conditions. I cooked many meals in my own kitchen. Every dish was deliciously cooked."

Immediate Cooking

"Steak began to broil and my molasses cake began to rise almost as soon as I lighted the burners. There was no waiting for the heat to 'come up.'"

"The bottom of every utensil used in the experiment was as clean as a china dish. No scouring was necessary. Those long Perfection chimneys certainly are insurance against sooty kettles."

All at the Same Time

"I cooked many things at once. For boiling beef I used a very low flame. I French-fried potatoes over a hot flame with yellow tips about 1 1/2 inches high above the blue area. I cooked white sauce over a medium flame."

"I used all grades of heat at the same time satisfactorily."

All flames remained steady and even. They did not creep or 'crawl.' This is a real blessing to the cook. She can forget her stove and keep her mind on her cooking.

"Very Well Satisfied"

"Altogether I was very well satisfied with the Perfection Stove. And, my good opinion of oil stoves has increased, if that is possible."

4,500,000 In Use

The other five famous cooks were enthusiastic about the 1926 Perfection, too. And every day 4,500,000 women get real cooking satisfaction from their Perfections. You, too, will get the most cooking satisfaction the year around when you cook on the latest model Perfection.

The home of Captain T. W. Rowden, on Johnston street, was damaged badly by fire today.

Wheeler Park was dedicated formally yesterday afternoon.

Robert Ford, of Oakland, Calif., is the guest of his uncle, J. S. Ford.

Mrs. Ramage is attending the missionary conference at Talladega and while there is the guest of Mrs. K. N. Mathews.

D. Grubbs and daughter, of Birmingham, are the guests of Mrs. George D. Williams.

Ponzi has forfeited another bond. Maybe he operates on the principle of "come easy, go easy."

Pity the Democrats. Few of them have soft federal jobs to help them through the hot weather.

There is a limit to all things. Mi-lady cannot reduce the clothing that nature gave her.

David W. Crosland, of Montgomery, beloved Shriner, has been elected imperial potentate of North American Shriners. All Alabama congratulates Judge Crosland.

"Build the second biggest city in Alabama on the banks of the Tennessee river" was the cheering message telegraphed to the meeting of business men at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening.

Leaders of congress do not know when adjournment will be. From the amount of beneficial legislation adopted, the average man would not even know congress was in session.

The Tennesseean reports blue blood, millionaires, natives and wealthy tourists caught in the failure of a big realty firm in that state. Florida sowed speculation and now must reap her harvest.

Senator Curtis is quoted in press dispatches as declaring the steering committee will consider Muscle Shoals legislation, with a view to giving it a place in forthcoming considerations by the senate. That is the first gleam of hope seen by advocates of Muscle Shoals in several weeks and it was duly welcomed.

The number of week-end tragedies reported ever so often in Birmingham reminds some of the old-timers of a headline, reported to have been written years ago by an Age-Herald copy reader, after a particularly bloody Saturday night and Sunday: "The wages of sin is death; yesterday was pay-day in Birmingham."

The stocking makers win the 1926 intellectual prize. Finding signs that the ladies might go bare-legged, they made their new stockings so sheer and natural in color they couldn't be seen without a microscope, and so thin they couldn't be put on more than once without tearing.

The Literary Digest has seen fit to re-publish an editorial paragraph from The Daily and to send it out on the film circuit as well. Thanks for the buggy ride, and be it known that our estimation of the Digest in particular and the picture industry in general has taken a substantial rise.

"Mr. Patterson has proved himself faithful to his public trust, and it has been no small trust. He has proved that he is fully entitled to the public confidence and the public endorsement of his aspirations to become chief executive of Alabama. Does any man wish the details of that proof? Let him examine Mr. Patterson's record as head of the public service commission," says the Birmingham Age-Herald. On their records you shall know them.

Now that the candidates have declared for nine months school terms in all of the rural sections, it behooves the voters of the state to see that the successful candidates live up to their campaign pledges. The Daily, as one of the pioneer newspapers in this work, serves notice now it intends to make its small voice heard as far as possible, in insistence that the successful candidates accomplish what they have promised the people of Alabama.

USELESS HONKING OF AUTOMOBILE HORNS UNNECESSARY HARSHNESS ON OTHERS

A Daily subscriber recently came into the office, after having read in an exchange a complaint against the useless honking of automobile horns. The subscriber wondered if something could not be done to reduce that practice here. He will find others wondering the same thing.

An automobile horn serves its own good purpose but despite the numerous freakish musical instruments of the day, The Daily dares to say the manufacturers of automobile sirens did not expect their product to be utilized as part of an orchestra of yowls.

Some drivers of cars attempt to play all sorts of pranks on their horns. In the stillness of the night, they blast away; without rhyme or reason, they press the buttons and are rewarded with the shrill whistle, or the guttural groans of the horns, as the case may be. It is a mystery just what particular brand of pleasure they derive from the practice. Perhaps they get from their horns the same "kick" a child does with a cap pistol or a fire cracker. At least there is little difference in the nuisance both become.

BUSINESS MEN INSTRUCT JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO GO AHEAD

The banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, when business men of Albany and Decatur were guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, revealed a serious determination on the part of this community to add to its industrial payrolls by the location of one or more new industries within the next few months.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was instructed by resolution of the business men to open the throttle and go ahead. Heretofore the Juniors, working alone, have accomplished much, but in the future, with the co-operation and help of the business men of these cities, they can accomplish indefinitely more.

In regard to the representatives of one concern, expected here this month, the Junior Chamber of Commerce was requested to leave no stone unturned to get this big plant in Albany-Decatur. They were assured of the backing of the business men in every way possible. That is the kind of spirit which builds communities. No single organization can achieve the result, the co-operation of all is necessary.

As the time nears for the appearance here of these representatives, the Junior Chamber, by virtue of Tuesday night's meeting, is able to say to their visitors: "Gentlemen, the people of Albany-Decatur want you. They want you with a desire sufficiently intense to do anything within reason to get you here."

SECRETARY DANIELS OPPOSES TWO-THIRDS AND THE UNIT RULES IN PARTY MEETINGS

Secretary Daniels, member of President Wilson's cabinet, Wednesday opened in Columbus, Ohio, a campaign for the abolition of the two-thirds and the unit rules in Democratic national conventions. These two rules have come in for a great deal of criticism for several years, but only recently has such a determined effort been made to rid the party of them.

The present opposition can be traced very easily back to the New York convention in 1924. If there ever was any kind convention, conference or meeting of any nature, political or otherwise, which showed an incompetency in functioning, it was the New York gathering of Democratic delegates.

Whether or not the elimination of the two-thirds rule and the unit rule, or either, would bring about greater harmony in Democratic circles is a doubtful question, The Daily believes. Certainly something should be done to restore the party as a formidable contestant in national affairs, and Secretary Daniels may be working along the right line. There are many, however, who fail to recognize any real advantage in eliminating these rules, if the bickerings and personal animosities, which now are so clearly defined as a democratic characteristic, are to be permitted to continue.

GADSDEN TIMES-NEWS ANNOUNCES IT IS FOR ANDREW G. PATTERSON

Convinced that those forces which are supporting Mr. Charles McDowell for governor are "maneuvering to put McDowell in the governor's chair by a split of the vote between three opponents in the race," The Gadsden Times-News joins the swelling ranks of Patterson supporters and urges its readers to cast their ballots for the Morgan county candidate.

The Times-News says:

The Gadsden Times takes this occasion to come out flatfootedly in advocacy of the candidacy of Hon. A. G. Patterson for governor of Alabama.

Believing that the welfare of the state is at stake, this newspaper has no hesitancy in urging its readers to support Mr. Patterson, for reasons which we believe to be sound.

It is not that McDowell is likely to get any great number of votes in the territory which this newspaper serves, but we are convinced that if the anti-McDowell vote of the state is divided among the three other candidates in the field, McDowell will stand a chance of election, a thing which the people of Alabama do not tolerate.

Mr. Carmichael and Mr. Graves are strong men and will doubtless receive the support of many citizens of the state, which fact adds to the chance of McDowell's election. This newspaper is convinced that a vote for either Carmichael or Graves is, in reality, a vote for McDowell, and, understanding the undercurrents in state politics as this newspaper does, the Gadsden Times feels that it is its duty to warn its readers against any such maneuver as this.

For six years Mr. Patterson has served the state as president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, the state agency which was constituted for the purpose of protecting the people of Alabama against the encroachments of the corporations conducting business within the state.

During these years Mr. Patterson has demonstrated the fact that he places a higher valuation upon the welfare of the people of the state than upon the advancement of the interests of its corporations.

It is just here that the most vitally important difference in the two men lies. Aside from the sound policies for which Mr. Patterson stands, the fact that his record is absolutely above reproach in his past dealings with the corporate interests of the state will unquestionably recommend him to the consideration of those voters who have any realization of the part which the moneyed interests are attempting to play in the state government.

A vote for McDowell is a vote for a resumption, for another four years, of the Brandon regime at Montgomery and is a vote for the chosen man of the corporations.

This newspaper is convinced that the corporate interests of the state and the Alabama political machine are maneuvering to put McDowell in the governor's chair by a split of the vote between three opponents in the race, and the election of McDowell, in our opinion, would mean disaster.

As the campaign for the democratic nomination for governor of Alabama nears the "home stretch," the records made in public life by the four candidates for that office continue to loom more and more important. Continually, more stress is being laid on what these candidates have accomplished for the people in the past, for the voters are predicating on that past record their hope of what the future may bring forth.

In consideration of the public records of the four candidates, that of A. G. Patterson stands forth like a beacon. Every passing day adds to his strength. The Daily and the other newspapers which are supporting him welcome the Gadsden Times-News to their ranks.

nounced that the life of a one dollar bill is only six months.

The average citizen can testify that in some cases the life of a one dollar bill is less than six months.

WITHIN fifteen years the use of paper currency has increased three fold, Uncle Sam makes one billion new bills each year weighing twelve hundred tons. People handle money more carelessly than they did says the government. That probably will be blamed on prohibition. Buying beer for a nickel did not wear out... currency as much as... buying a drink of whiskey for a one dollar bill, or a bottle for a ten dollar bill. The government might make some one one dollar nickel or aluminum coins, for the bootleg trade.

PROHIBITION has its surprising aspects. While President Coolidge is spending his summer vacation in the Adirondacks, fast automobiles confiscated from bootleggers, manned by armed men carrying sawed-off shot guns, will patrol mountain roads near the president's camp and see that he is not disturbed by the "roar of whiskey-laden trucks from Canada."

The dry administration directing these sawed-off shotguns say they will not be used "promiscuously." That will re-assure other inhabitants of the Adirondacks.

SPAIN and France fought together against the Riffs, led by Abd-El-Krim, who made a courageous fight. Spain says that 18 Spanish officers captured by Abd-El-Krim are missing and other Spanish prisoners were badly treated and wants permissions to execute Krim.

France says, "No," and wisely, since she must rule the territory taken from Krim and depends on native co-operation.

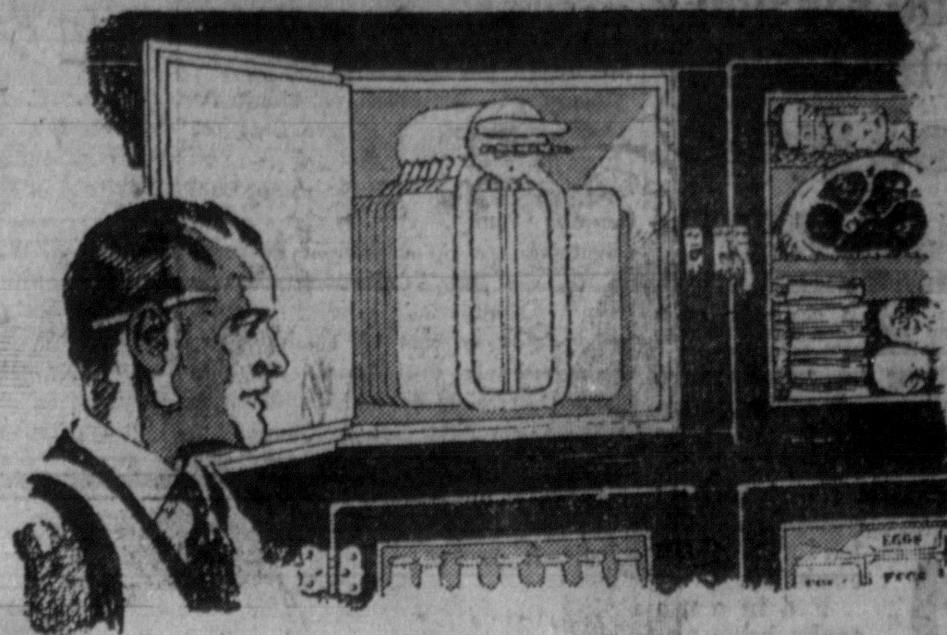

Also French action is in line with precedent. Heads of nations send their little people out to fight and kill each other. But when one head of a nation captures another, there is no killing. It isn't considered "ethical."

WITH all their troubles, Britain and the British colonies proves that they possess statesmen and recu-perative power. On July 1, Canada will resume the gold standard. The other day the British pound sterling lately so badly crippled, rose above the American dollar. In the world's exchange markets. Without restoring the gold standard, the Canadian dollar had already gone above the American dollar.

A Hundred Million Dollars

is invested by Studebaker in One-Profit facilities which make possible this Unit-Built Coach for only ...

$1195YEAR ago, Studebaker started to work to this goal—the manufacture of a car of superb quality on the One-Profit basis that won the world to Ford in the low-price field.

To gain it, we plowed the earnings of years back into our business. We declared only reasonable dividends. We used more than half of all earnings developing plants and machinery that stand out today as world models. As a result we have one hundred million dollars in net assets concentrated on the economical production of One-Profit Studebakers.

Studebaker's unique facilities

Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of an automobile's cost is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of a car's cost is in the body.

Studebaker builds all its own bodies, all engines, all clutches, gear sets, springs, differentials, steering gears, brakes, axles, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Studebaker in the fine-car field enjoys such complete manufacturing facilities.

One-Profit value

These facilities enable Studebaker to manufacture quality cars on a One-Profit basis—eliminating outside profits. The savings thus effected are passed on to Studebaker owners in the form of higher quality and lower prices.

Unit-Built construction

Studebaker facilities result, too, in cars designed, engineered and built as units. The hundreds of parts in a Studebaker function as a smooth-working unit, resulting in scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort and higher resale value.

Always kept up-to-date

Direct manufacturing control enables Studebaker to keep cars constantly up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete.

Barons Break Vol Barrier, But Remain In Second Place As Pels Continue Path

Rising in their full fury to overwhelm the discord caused in Baronia ranks by Vol employees during the past few days, the Barons swept aside all enemy opposition, winning 15-4, Nashville took one of the worst beatings of the year led by Ray Chapman with a home run, a single and a double.

The Barons were forced to remain in second place however, despite their ferocious attack and continued bludgeoning as the Pels were stopping Memphis 6-5. Strain, New Orleans outfielder, treated the fans to something new hitting 11 fouls in the eighth. He wound up his foul hitting when Merton gave him a walk. Atlanta managed to win out over Chattanooga 3-1, though outthit by the Go ahead and roll 'em—with P.A.

IF YOU'VE never rolled a cigarette with Prince Albert, you're like a fellow standing in line on pay-day. You've got something good coming to you! Good? Well, that word's hardly strong enough. You've got more downright roll-your-own pleasure coming to you than you ever thought possible.

Because, P. A. makes the best little home-rolled cigarette ever. No better cigarette tobacco than Prince Albert ever curled up in a paper. It's crimp-cut and stays put. Doesn't flutter to the floor as you roll it. This is just a detail, of course. The taste is the big thing.

Cigarettes made with Prince Albert taste great. They smoke so cool and sweet, you'll want to make one right after the other. They're fragrant as honey-suckle. Never bite the tongue or parch the throat. The Prince Albert process attended to that little item right at the beginning.

Get a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of P. A. today. Make yourself some wonderful cigarettes. For variety, try a load or two of this same, wonderful tobacco in the bowl of your old jimmy-pipe. No matter how you smoke it or where, Prince Albert is a grand little pal.

had seen his best days as a hurler. The Chi White Sox managed a ninth inning rally to defeat the Browns 6-5, getting four runs in the last inning. The Athletics split a pair with Boston 4-5 and 5-1. Ty Cobb went into the lineup in the second game against Cleveland to win the last game. Cleveland had annexed the first 13-1. Cobb led his troop of Bengals to a 7-0 win in the second hitting two doubles and two singles and scoring two runs.

Over in the National league the Giants broke even with the Phillies 5-4 and 2-7. The St. Louis Cards easily defeated Chicago 14-6. The Boston Braves treated Jess Petty roughly yesterday in the first Dodger Brave go, winning 12-5 and then came back in the second for a 12-1 win in

Senate Committee In Report Today Gives Probi Approval

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Indefinite postponement of all of the proposals for modification of the dry laws and for a national prohibition referendum, was recommended today by the senate prohibition committee.

This action still is subject to approval by the judiciary committee, of which the prohibition committee is a part, but it is expected to concur.

The report of the prohibition committee was drawn by Chairman Means. It said:

"The eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States was ratified according to a proclamation of the secretary of state January 29, 1919. We believe this amendment to be morally right and economically wise.

"So long as this amendment is a part of our fundamental law, it is the duty of all officers, legislative, executive and judicial, to aid in its enforcement.

The advocates of modification of the present prohibition laws propose to weaken the same. They seek to direct, or indirectly authorize the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages. This is contrary to the spirit and intent of the eighteenth amendment. The constitution is a grant of powers. Those powers are limited and such limits are not to be transcended.

"A national referendum is not provided for and it is our belief that it was not the intention of the framers of the constitution that a national referendum would ever be attempted, provides machinery for the upholding of law has ever been enacted which of such a referendum."

The sub-committee's decision did not surprise the modificationists. In anticipation of it they already have introduced several of their bills as

OVER 200 GIRLS EXPECTED HERE FOR MORGAN CO. SHORT COURSE

Miss Sallye Hamilton Announces the Tentative Schedule For Meetings To Be Held Here June 16-17-18

With more than 200 girls expected here June 16-17-18 to take the short course, offered by the Home Demonstration department of the county in conjunction with the efforts of Woman's Clubs in the Twin Cities, Albany-Decatur civic and educational bodies already have begun functioning.

A week ago Mrs. L. P. Troup went before the Kiwanis club and asked that body for co-operative effort in order that the young women who will come from every section of this county may have every advantage these cities can offer. Mrs. Troup was assured that the Ladies' organizations had but to designate the duty to be performed and the local civic unit would gladly go to work at once.

The following tentative program has been announced by Miss Sallye Hamilton, home demonstration agent this county who has been very successful in gaining access to Morgan County homes and spreading the influence of her work:

Miss Hamilton will have the assistance of Miss Collins of the Morgan County Health department and Miss Cureton, state worker, in addition to a number of assistants, the various woman's organizations in the cities and the Parent-Teacher Associations of the schools.

Several business men are expected to make talks before the assembled amendments to the administration measure for tightening enforcement now on the senate calendar.

There is little likelihood, however, that this bill will come to a vote at the present session.

Only three of the five members of the committee were present when the sub-committee acted. They were Means, Goff, West Virginia, and Harrell, Oklahoma, all republicans. The other members are: Walsh, democrat, Montana, a dry, and Reed, democrat, Missouri, a leader of the wets.

Morgan County students.

The entertainment features of the program will include automobile rides over the cities, movies, trips to various industrial plants and business institutions. All girls will be entertained in Twin City homes during the three day gathering.

Miss Hamilton instructs all girls in the county who have not signified their names to her at once.

Indigestion?

Relieved Pleasantly with Milder "Pepsin-ated" Calomel

Most all disease troubles start with indigestion. The digestive system becomes clogged and poisons spread, causing chronic headaches and backaches, biliousness, bad breath, pimples, dizziness, and a tired, worn-out feeling. Later, serious disease may ruin your health—malaria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever.

You can rid your system of poisons now in one night. A new combination of pepsin and calomel does it. More effective than plain calomel, yet pleasant and mild. No sickening effect—no griping. One tablet at bedtime lets you sleep soundly and peacefully, and yet while you sleep it drives out all the early symptoms of disease.

Excerpt From Deneen Report, No. 672,
Sixty-Ninth Congress

"Your committee invited the Hon. Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War; the Hon. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior; the Hon. William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, members of the Federal Power Commission—and the Hon. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, to confer with it and requested their aid in securing the services of technical experts and advisers to assist the committee in its work. They suggested the organization of an advisory board and recommended the following persons, who have assisted the committee in its investigations and negotiations:

"1. Brig. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, Assistant Chief of Engineers, United States Army.

"2. Mr. Paul S. Clapp, representative Department of Commerce.

"3. Dr. S. C. Lind, Associate Director Fixed Nitrogen Research Laboratory, Department of Agriculture. (Dr. F. G. Cottrell, director of the Department of Agriculture, was the representative for the Department of Agriculture until he left for Europe on April 16.)

"4. Mr. C. A. Bissell, Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior.

"In addition to the foregoing, the following gentlemen assisted materially in the studies:

"Lieut. Col. George R. Spalding, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Max C. Tyler, Corps of Engineers; Maj. Philip B. Fleming, Corps of Engineers; Mr. F. A. Ernst, Department of Agriculture; Maj. James H. Burns, Ordnance Department, United States Army; Maj. Glen C. Edgerton, Chief Engineer, Federal Power Commission; Dr. P. E. Howard, Ordnance Department, United States Army."

Report of Government Advisory Board

The results of an analysis by the Government Advisory Committee were summarized in the following letter:

April 23, 1926.

Hon. Charles S. Deneen, Chairman Joint Congressional Committee on Leasing Muscle Shoals, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Deneen: In accordance with your verbal request, your advisory committee has given consideration to two revised bids, one from the Air Nitrates Corporation and American Cyanamide Company, and the other from the Associated power companies.

We have endeavored to make a comparative analysis of these two bids from the following main standpoints:

- (a) National defense.
- (b) Fertilizer benefits to agriculture.
- (c) Distribution of power not required for national defense or in fertilizer manufacture.
- (d) Monetary return to the United States.
- (e) Additional expenditures required by the United States or other considerations to be given by the United States.
- (f) Guaranty of performance.
- (g) Situation at end of lease period.

The outstanding points under each head may be summarized as follows:

(a) NATIONAL DEFENSE—Both bidders provide in a satisfactory manner for maintenance of properties in a state of readiness for national defense. The Air Nitrates Corporation until Congress shall decide that this is no longer necessary. The Associated Power Companies until the Secretary of War shall so decide.

(b) FERTILIZER AND BENEFITS TO AGRICULTURE—It appears from this study, so far as the production of fertilizer is concerned, that because of the seemingly better assurance of reaching the 40,000 tons of nitrogen production and through a process of present and apparently future greater possibilities for lessening costs, and also because of the larger invested capital which will in itself be an incentive to keep up production, the proposal of the Associated Power Companies is more advantageous. It is believed, however, that the feature of a discontinuance of production because of a storage of fertilizer containing 5,000 tons of nitrogen would be improved by an amendment requiring one year's production in storage.

(c) DISTRIBUTION OF POWER NOT REQUIRED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE OR IN FERTILIZER MANUFACTURE—The bid of the Air Nitrates Corporation provides that surplus power will be available to the lessee, the American Cyanamide Company, and/or its subsidiaries for use in their own local industries at Muscle Shoals, for other local industries, and for distribution in Alabama and other States. The Power Company bid provides for distribution of surplus power through a system of transmission lines already constructed and in operation covering a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. These lines are tied in with auxiliary plants operated by interconnected companies. This gives opportunity for fullest utilization of surplus power, both primary and secondary, and from this standpoint the Power Company's bid carries out more fully the spirit of the congressional resolution.

(d) * * * The installation of Dams Nos. 2 and 3, and, in the case of the Power Company's bid, the steam plant, return to the United States under the two bids will be as follows:

MONETARY RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES:

(Note: The Power Companies' offer in this respect was amended after this report was compiled. The revised figures follow):
